

in the news

01/01/08

Paramedics deliver just after midnight

Whilst most were enjoying the final blasts from the fireworks display, one mother of two was hoping the Ambulance would reach her in time.

Just before midnight Ambulance received a call from a heavily pregnant Merimbula mum whose water had broken and contractions were a mere one minute apart.

Paramedics from Merimbula Station were quick to respond and had her and her partner safely in the ambulance and on the way to Bega Hospital by midnight. It would seem however that the baby was determined to welcome in the New Year a little sooner than all had hoped and did so in the back of the ambulance.

At 12.08am paramedics delivered a healthy baby girl to her delighted parents and continued transporting the family to Bega Hospital.

Paramedics Mick Nadin and Geoff Harling visited baby Brianna, her mother Yvonne and dad Cliff at Bega Hospital 12 hours after delivery.