^{* &#}x27;Accumulated damages' are minor damages that have accrued over a period of time.

Ambulance Service of NSW

Traffic Infringements received from the Infringement Processing Bureau 2009 to 2011

Calendar Year	Total fines received by Ambulance	Total cancelled (emergency response situation)	Total referred to staff (not an emergency response)
2009	1,293	1,233	60
2010	1,008	970	38
2011 (to end Feb)	147	137	10

The Ambulance Service supports the waiving of an infringement notice for a speeding or traffic offence when the ambulance vehicle is responding to an emergency. In such cases, the Fleet Management Unit will verify the case details with the Ambulance Service Control Centre and provide the necessary evidence to the Police Traffic Infringement Branch with a request to waive the fine.

In cases other than an emergency, drivers in control of the vehicle at the time are liable for all infringements, and these are referred to the individual concerned.

The majority of these infringements (more than 90%) are incurred by operational Ambulance vehicles while responding to an emergency. Ambulance records of traffic infringements do not distinguish operational ambulance vehicles from non-operational corporate vehicles used on a private/business basis, however the Fleet Management Unit reports that there have been 10 or less instances in the last three years where infringements were issued to non-operational unmarked ambulance vehicles.

In addition, the Ambulance Service does not record the type of infringement received, (e.g. speeding, red light, parking offences).

The Ambulance Service requires its Paramedics to be safe and responsible drivers, and takes appropriate action against any Paramedic who is found to have driven an Ambulance vehicle in a way that is unsafe.
